

Job Search Workshops

Job Search Workshops (JSW) provide jobseekers new to Canada with opportunities to meet and network as they learn job search skills and gather information about the Canadian labour market. Participants will understand trends in various sectors and gain insight on Canadian workplace culture. They will also develop and practice skills such as resume preparation, cold-calling employers, networking and interviewing.

“The JSW program helped me get my confidence back. It taught me how to prepare a Canadian-style resume and develop my professional network while planning my next steps in my job search. Through my intensive interview practice in the program I was ready for any questions that came my way. As a result I secured my desired job in my own field.”
