

Speed Mentoring®

Professional Networking in Canada

For newcomers to Canada, networking is a highly effective way to start a job search and meet professionals who can introduce you to new opportunities. A large percentage of jobs are not advertised, which means that cultivating professional connections and building a network can lead to job opportunities with employers who are hiring.

The Speed Mentoring® program at ACCES allows individuals to network with professionals in their field, receive advice about their job search and meet employer contacts who can refer you to job opportunities. We host over 120 Speed Mentoring® events each year in various sectors.

“I received a real edge on the competition with support from mentors I met while participating in Speed Mentoring® events organized by ACCES. I learned of job opportunities that were not posted and essential skills top employers were currently searching for.”
