

Engineering Connections

Engineering Connections is designed to support internationally trained engineering professionals to succeed in the Canadian labour market. The program is delivered in partnership with Humber College and provides participants with important insights into Canadian workplace culture, engineering codes and standards, the Canadian project management environment, and professional licensing in Ontario.

“ The sessions were creative and innovative and greatly helped me to achieve my desired objectives. Even after the program was over, I received personalized support for job offer negotiation, which was highly appreciated. ”
